A helicopter view of Expo IX, taken by Emily Welden, shows the tractor displays, vendors, and machinery auction. We offer a wholehearted tip of the hat to the Expo IX Co-chairs, Dave Howman and Derek Snider, for a job well done.

Hyler Bracey and Cass Flagg, who spoke at the Expo on "Cotton Farming in Georgia", take a break in front of their John Deere Hi-Trac.

Colorful patio tractors from 1969 and 1970 were displayed by Redding Toy Farms, which is owned by Mark and Darren Redding of Indiana, who were speakers at Expo IX.

From the president

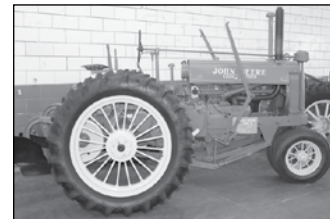

Have you recovered yet from Expo IX? Did you have a good time and enjoy meeting new friends and catching up with old ones?

We had a very successful show this year! Your directors and officers will be presenting to you at our October 23rd meeting the results of our show at Wooster.

Please plan to attend our October meeting. Besides hearing about Wooster, we have some very important issues to vote on. You will be nominating and voting on a new slate of officers and three directors to lead us for the next few years.

I also want to encourage more participation in the activities our club votes to attend. To the member reading this: you are the club's life blood and without your participation our club will stumble.

I look forward to seeing and talking with you at Kenny's for our fall meeting. — Shaun Pickering

Ned Brokaw displayed his 1936 Model A at Expo IX.

More views of Expo IX

The Expo's machinery auction had many items up for grabs. We look forward to hearing details about the results of the Expo at our October meeting.

Kenneth Weaver of Weaver's Magneto Repair in Shiloh, Ohio, was pleased with the Expo. His sons rode their bicycles from Shiloh to Wooster to attend the Expo!

Ralph Hofstetter of Kidron, left, and James Mast of Dalton, visited the Expo for the first time, as they look over a fine Model A. They enjoyed themselves so much they hope to bring their own tractors in 2018.

Dave Boreman of Shearer Equipment, an Expo sponsor, greeted attendees. Many thanks to Scott Stallman of Shearer's who shared photos of Expo IX on his company's facebook page.

Welcome, new members!

We appreciate your interest in our organization and welcome your input and participation.

Will and Joe Tabellion of Louisville and Dave Lab of Navarre, admire these 1958 John Deere 720 Standard Diesel electric start tractors, owned by the Roy Miller family of Millersburg. Each tractor was one of 133 built, and has consecutive serial numbers. The tractor at left originally shipped to Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada and was acquired from a private owner in Minnesota; the center tractor originally shipped to Moundridge, Kansas and was acquired at auction in Plain City, Ohio; and the tractor at right originally shipped to Hazen, Arkansas and was acquired at auction in Warsaw, Indiana.

Three generations of the John Corbett family, of Wooster, attended Expo IX, as part of the Northeast Ohio Two Cylinder Club. Dick Corbett, along with his son, Colton, left, reminisced about finding this Rod Weeder which sat in a pasture in Luray, Kansas for about thirty years. When Dick asked the owner, "How much you want for that?" the gentleman told him, "For $10, I'll set it on your trailer." The bar on this implement turns and tears out weeds.

This circa 1930s Model 72 sweep rake, shown with owner Brian Starcher and his two sons, was used for picking up loose hay or grain shocks out of the field. It has original eight-foot yellow pine wooden tines and is 12-1/2 feet wide. It "gathered" much attention at the Expo.

Ruth Price was a friend to OTCC

We mourn the passing of Ruth Price, a member of the OTCC. Ruth and her husband, Wayne, were generous hosts of Plow Days at their farm in London, Ohio. Her husband preceded her in death in 2015. Their sons are members of our Club. Our deepest condolences to the family.

M. Ruth Price, 88, died August 20, 2016 in Dayton. Born January 21, 1928, she was a well-known quilter in the Madison County area. Survivors include her children, Pamela (Roger) Call, Charles (Claudia) Price, both of London, Mary (Earl) Collins of Kingstont, Wash., Thomas (Pamela) Price of West Jefferson, Steven Price and Nancy (Steven) Creamer, of London.

Online condolences for the family may be sent to www.eberlefisherfuneralhome.com. Memorial contributions may be made to Newport United Methodist Church, P.O. Box 701, London, OH 43140.
